HOPE FOR BLOOD DISEASE VICTIMS

Researchers' work seen as 'significant step' forward

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A NEW test could hopefully bring about better treatment for people suffering from blood disorders, according to an Oxford University study.

It is hoped a routine test can help guide individual treatment for people with myelodysplastic syndrome (MDS) disorders.

In patients with MDS, normal blood production breaks down, with healthy cells underproduced and the bone marrow crowded with defective cells.

Symptoms progress differently in MDS sufferers, with up to 40 per cent of cases develop into leukaemia.

MDS is diagnosed in around 2,000 people in the UK every year and can be treated in many ways, but it is vital to establish the prognosis of each patient individually to consider appropriate treatment. The Oxford team used 'gene expression profiling' i.e. scanning the activity levels of thousands of genes at the same time.

The leader of the research team, Professor Jacqueline Boultwood, said: "Profiling of these genetic markers will help to deliver a more accurate and consistent prognosis for MDS patients. Identifying those at risk enables doctors to give early intensive treatment to those who need it most."

The university also said the test worked effectively on routine bone marrow samples taken from MDS patients, which removes the need to purify leukaemic stem cells.

Gene expression profiling was found to outperform other methods currently used by doctors.

The study followed patients' progress for an average of four years, and found a significant link between the activity of a set of 20 genes and long-term survival.

The relationship between fatality and two other genes was particularly strong, with the 'WT1' gene consistently overactive and 'LEF1' gene underactive in MDS patients with poor survival times. The study, published in the Journal of Clinical Oncology, was funded by blood cancer charity Leukaemia and Lymphona Research.

Professor Chris Bunce, the charity's research director, said: "This research represents a significant step towards tailoring treatment for individual MDS patients."

First free school in North Oxfordshire

NORTH Oxfordshire's first free school has opened its doors to excited pupils, marking a further significant step since the school was first envisaged by a group of local parents and business backers.

Heyford Park Free School Principal, David Castles welcomed new pupils and parents in an inaugural assembly, where pupils received their new school ties and met their house leaders as part of an opening ceremony.

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The school's launch follows a busy year of preparations which has involved refining the curriculum, appointing the principal and teaching staff, designing a new school uniform and progressing plans for the development of the school site.

Principal, David Castles, said: "We are delighted to have opened our doors, and to see so many excited and eager faces.

"We have placed a great importance on welcoming children and parents into the school over the last few months, and it was evident today that parents and pupils already feel part of a school community."

The school caters for students aged four to 19, and teaches all the core subjects on the National Curriculum. Year groups are limited to 60 students in total.

The school welcomed pupils to reception and year 7 for this academic year, and will grow in phases to 840 students in total by 2019. Mr Castles added: "We're excited to be up and running and look forward to our first academic year.

"We're proud of the excellent calibre of our staff and the very positive feedback from our Ofsted pre-opening inspection and from parents and the community alike. We know our students will have a bright future with excellent opportunities here with us".

Paul Silver, the school's Chair of Governors, said: "The opening of the school is an important milestone for Heyford Park and for everyone involved.

"The school is at the heart of plans to develop a thriving, vibrant community and we are really proud to welcome the new students as members of the community today. We look forward to an exciting future at Heyford Park."

Cyclists ride out on family day

HUNDREDS of cycling fanatics showed their love for the sport as they took part in a family fun day in Bicester.

Last Saturday, 300 cycle fans and their families congregated at Pingle Field for the annual Bicester Bike and Family Fun Day.

The day started with 40 riders heading into the town with treasure maps to find clues around Eco Bicester's new three mile bronze cycle route, which was also launched last Saturday.

This was followed by a cyclo-cross bike race across varied terrain and shrub-land at Pingle Field which provided an exciting off road course for riders of all abilities to test their skills on.

Graham Frogley, club coach of Bicester Millenium Cycling Club, said: "It was great to see so many residents showing their enthusiasm for cycling and getting involved in the fun. It was a brilliant turn-out and hopefully the day has encouraged even more people to take up cycling if they haven't already. The Cyclo-Cross bike race went really well and gave many people the exciting opportunity to participate in an off-road course for the first time.

"It was a challenging course with many tough obstacles, so it was encouraging to see people of all ages get on a bike and give it a go."

The event also saw over 70 bikes security coded by Thames Valley Police.

Death crash sentence

A 30-YEAR-OLD man from Witney has been sentenced for causing death by careless driving.

Paul Brown hit off-duty firefighter Joseph Wilkins on a country road near Abingdon in May 2012.

Oxford Crown Court heard that Brown had been eating a sandwich at the wheel when he hit Mr Wilkins.

Brown, a lock keeper, has been ordered to carry out 240 hours of unpaid work and was disqualified from driving for a year.

He admitted the charge and was cleared by jury of causing death by dangerous driving at a trial at Oxford Crown Court on Tuesday.

Thousands expected at Dragon Boat Day

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PREPARATIONS are just about completed for the annual Dragon Boat Day in Abingdon, set to take place on Sunday.

Eighteen teams will take to the Thames near Rye Farm Meadow and battle it out for the coveted winners' trophy and medals.

The day, as ever, is being organised by the Rotary Club of Abingdon Vesper.

Racing will start at 10.30am, and continue through the afternoon.

Teams will race each other in a series of heats, before the two fastest going head-to-head in a grand final in the afternoon.

Peter Davis, one of the organisers, said: "Preparations have gone well - we're ready to go, we've got a lot of things up and running.

"The fairground's arriving on Friday and Saturday, and it's all coming together.

"It's just about the largest thing going for the town, and raises a lot of money for different charities – that's the purpose of it.

"It's a great day out for everybody, and a great spectacle as well.

"Every year is a good one, except when it rains! But we've largely been very lucky, expect for last year."

The racing is normally held in May, but flooding last year meant the event had to be postponed until September.

Mr Davis added the club had kept it at that time this year, due to the lack of organisation time between September last year and May this year.

Each team hopes to raise £2,000 for their chosen charity – a third of which goes to the Rotary Club's charity fund.

The club have never done an attendance head count, but estimate around three or four thousand people to go along and enjoy the day.

The event has been going since 1999, with one year's absence in 2001 due to the foot and mouth disease outbreak.

The 40-foot boats hold 17 people – 16 rowing and one drummer.

Penguins score seven-year 'first' with parent-reared chicks

• Jim is already out exploring (Pictures courtesy of Cotswold Wildlife Park)

• Yogi and Dale protect their chick

FOR the first time in seven years penguins at Cotswold Wildlife Park have parent-reared their chicks.

Two adorable rare additions have joined the popular Homboldt penguins at the park with one chick a little more reluctant to leave the nest than the other.

Jim, the elder of the two chicks, has already left the nest and began to explore while his younger sibling, who is yet to be named, is not so keen to take its first steps into the outside world.

Last year, keepers hand-reared two chicks but they were delighted to see the penguins do it all by themselves 12 months later.

Boffins study cycling in older age

A NEW three-year research project starting at Oxford Brookes University in October will investigate ways in which people can be encouraged and helped to cycle in older age.

Cycling accounts for just one per cent of journeys in the UK's over-65 population, much lower than Netherlands (23 per cent), Denmark (15) and Germany (nine).

Tim Jones, Senior Research Fellow of the department of Planning at Oxford Brookes University, will be leading a team of researchers in the £1.4m study focused on whether cycling could play a more significant contribution to the mobility, health and well-being of the UK population.

The study will conduct biographic interviews and mobile interviews with people as they make a regular journey by bike, in order to capture and measure their experience.

There will also be an experimental trial of new electric bike users to measure how the growth of this assistive technology may affect wellbeing.

Mr Jones said: "It is a common misconception that older people don't cycle or have no desire to do so. But having the option to ride a bicycle is a fantastic way of maintaining independence and community connections and in so doing potentially benefiting physical and mental health and wellbeing."

Teaching children a healthy lifestyle

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A NEW health service is being launched this weekend to help combat the growing problem of childhood obesity in Oxford.

On Saturday, Reach4Health (Rethink Eating and Activity for Child Health) will be kick-started at the Leys Fair in Blackbird Leys Park between 12noon and 4pm.

School health nurses from the Oxford Health Foundation NHS Trust will have a stand at the fair to provide parents with information about the new scheme.

The scheme, which is commissioned by Oxfordshire County Council and delivered by the trust's School Health Nursing service, is in direct response to a seven-year long National Childhood Measurement Programme (NCMP).

Results from the NCMP worryingly show that across the county seven per cent of children aged four to five-years-old and nearly 16 per cent 10-11-year-olds are clinically obese.

Cllr Hilary Hibbert-Biles, cabinet member for Public Health and the Voluntary Sector, said: "Reducing this is key to a thriving Oxfordshire.

• A school health nurse teaches children about the benefits of healthy eating

"We know that overweight and obese children are more likely to become obese adults and children with obese parents are also more at risk. If the trend continues children are likely to develop health problems earlier, including long term conditions such as diabetes, cancer and heart and liver disease."

Parents are set to benefit from the scheme, which is a free weight management service for four to 16-year-olds, as it offers on-going support to help families make healthy changes to their lifestyles.

According to the Reach4-Health website, nine out of ten children could end up with dangerous levels of fat in their bodies while the scheme is said to have an emphasis on having fun and will include group sessions with activities, as well as one-to-one support.

Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust has become one of just 15 NHS trusts in England to be appointed to run a local branch of National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) Clinical Research Network.

Consultation

AN APPLICATION to build a new distribution facility on the outskirts of Didcot is now in a consultation period.

Cordea Savilles have submitted the application on behalf of Diageo Pension Trust and the proposal details the redevelopment of existing buildings and land situated west of Didcot Power Station in Sutton Courtenay Lane. The Guardian reported that it could create 2,000 jobs.

Blaze probed

AN INVESTIGATION as to why the roof of a house in Didcot caught fire is still under way despite not being considered as suspicious.

Firefighters were called at 10.43am on August 31 to a rapidly developing fire in the roof of a semi-detached house in Freeman Road.

Man in court

A 64-YEAR-OLD man has pleaded not guilty to nine charges of sexual offences. The defendant, from Blewbury, appeared at Oxford Crown Court on Monday and is accused of eight charges of sexual assault on a female and a ninth of exposure between June 2012 and May this year.

He will stand trial on December 2.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Florey feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and Josh is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Josh a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Owzat! Cricket pavilion has a £300,000 facelift

A SPECIAL Twenty20 cricket game took place in Cutteslowe Park on Tuesday night to mark the grand opening of a refurbished pavilion.

Wolvercote Cricket Club took on staff from Oxford City Council's Leisure, Parks and Communites and Waste Management departments, after the council unveiled the top pavilion following a £300,000 renovation.

The pavilion is owned by Oxford City Council and is the home of Wolvercote Cricket Club and North Oxford Football Club.

The £300,000 renovation includes improvements to changing room facilities, new windows and doors and five new public toilets.

The multi-function room at the pavilion has also been improved, as have the official rooms.

Cllr Mark Lygo, board member for Parks, Sports and Events, officially opened the facility.

"I hope the high standard of facilities we can now offer will help local teams to increase the number of players and see them improve in their respective leagues," he said.

"The pavilion will also be available for the local community and park visitors to have meetings, children's parties or classes."

The new toilets were installed in response to visitor comments who had stated that the toilets came top of their list for improvements.

"Officers have received over 30 positive comments about the new toilets which shows we are listening to visitor concerns and acting on them," added Cllr Lygo.

Work was carried out on the pavilion for it to meet Sport England, child protection and disability standards.

The pavilion is the first of 12 to be renovated as part of the council's Pavilion Modernisation Programme, which also hopes to build a brand new facility at Grandpont Recreation Ground.

Spaces for bikes have also been made available, and a series of energy-efficient measures are in place in the new facility in order to minimise the council's carbon footprint.

These include improved insulation, low energy lighting, better heating controls and a more efficient water system.

Teams show their boat race paddle power

HUNDREDS of people flocked to revel out for the annual Bangladeshi Boat Race near Donnington Bridge on Sunday.

Oxford Bangladeshi Boat Club (OBBC) was set up in 2008, and every year since, they have held the Nowka Bais 'Boat Race' at Oxford's Falcon and Rowing Canoe Club (FRCC).

This year's racing featured 10 teams, with the overall competition won by Falcon 'A'.

Team Ahmed, pictured, took home the runners-up prize and were also crowned best traditionally-dressed crew.

The Sheriff of Oxford, Cllr Mohammed Abbasi, and Cllr Jamila Azad both attended.

Peter Travis, chairman of FRCC, said: "As always there was plenty of high spirits on the day with the crowd being very noisy. Lots of people taking strolls on the towpath stopped and stared at the sight of exotic brightly painted boats from the east racing on a Sunday afternoon in Oxford.

• Team Ahmed, who won 'Best traditionally dressed crew'

"Having decided to run the race this year as a free 'open' event we had a great new 'mixer' for 'boaty' folk in the city. Next year we plan to link the event to getting more Asian Oxford children interested in learning to canoe and learning to swim."

Mr Travis also thanked Oxfordshire County Council, who gave a grant to organisers in order to stage this year's competition, Regal Centre in East Oxford, and Anamul Haque, whose Eynsham-based restaurant Ready Steady Spice provided free food for teams and competitors.

Kayak and canoe club is one of best in the country

A THRIVING kayaking and canoeing club in Oxford has been shortlisted as one of the top three in the country.

Canoe England has named Falcon Kayaking and Canoeing Club of Oxford, which is part of Falcon Rowing and Canoe Club, in its top three.

The club will find out on October 12 whether they have come first, second or third and Kayak captain Nick Barnett was delighted to hear the news.

"It's great," he said. "The club has been around for over 100 years and it is the first time that we have been shortlisted so it is great. We seem to be on a bit of a high at the moment."

The club has 220 members, 75 of which are juniors, while 2012 Olympian Abigail Edmonds is based at the club.

Nick added: "I don't know what the key element is to why it is all working, but it is also down to the whole team of coaches and the volunteers that host the café on Saturday mornings - there is a really nice community spirit down by the boathouse."

OLYMPIC star Keri-Anne Payne has praised the first Blenheim Palace SwimBritain event, which saw over 900 people take to the water on Sunday.

Keri-Anne was joined by comedian David Walliams and fellow swimmers Cassie Patten, Duncan Goodhew and Graham Edmunds as part of the event, which had eight others around the country as part of a national push to get more people swimming.

People swam 1,000m each, in four legs of 250m, in Blenheim Palace's Great Lake.

"It ran like absolute clockwork," said Keri-Anne. "Everybody seemed happy – we all swam together and it was great fun.

"Considering there was so many different people here of so many different abilities, it was such a fantastic event – it went so smoothly.

"Everyone seemed to be really chuffed with it and wanting to do it again next year.

"One of my personal highlights was how amazing the staff were – all of the lifeguards, kayakers and helpers who were here.

"Everybody was friendly, they were all brilliant and it made the event absolutely fantastic."

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Former Olympic silver medallist and two-time World Champion Anne-Anne added that the legact of London 2012 had added greatly to the effect, and the event was a very fitting way of maintaining the rise in sports participation since the games.

"The thing I love most about Swim Britain is that it appeal to so many different people for so many different reasons – people who never knew how to swim before have started and just carried it on.

"A year post-Olympics, what better way to cement the swimming legacy of London 2012 than to come and swim at an event like this."

Keri-Anne, David and Cassie were all team captains on the day, and there was certainly a bit of friendly rivalry shining through.

"Everybody was wearing different hats from different waves, and it made you swim harder to try and catch the different people from the same wave as you," she said.

Course to recovery is set

LABOUR oppose everything we have done to turn our economy around, cut the deficit and fix welfare to make sure work pays. It is the same old Labour party which has only one idea: more spending, more borrowing and more debt. Exactly what got us into this mess in the first place.

We came into Government to address one of the biggest economic crises since the Second World War. We have had to take tough decisions to bring the economy back from the brink. Thanks to those decisions, our economy is now moving from rescue to recovery. We are reducing the deficit, cutting taxes, and making work pay. We are making our country competitive again, so that Britain can compete in the global race. We are unlocking the aspirations of a nation, backing people who want to work hard and get on.

There is hardly a day that goes by without yet more good economic news. Only recently, UK GDP output for the second quarter of 2013 was revised upwards, according to officially released figures. The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said the economy grew by 0.7%.

Strong tax receipts in July confirm that the economy is moving from rescue to recovery. There is still a long way to go as the UK recovers from the biggest economic crisis in living memory, and the Government is sticking to the economic plan that has already cut the deficit by a third and enabled the private sector to create over 1.3 million new jobs. By April 2014 we will have increased the personal allowance to £10,000, a typical tax cut of £705. 2.7 million people on the lowest incomes will pay no income tax.

The economic signs point in one direction – towards the recovery of the UK economy. It is going to be a bumpy road but the course is set and we are doing the right thing to maintain it.

Food store jobs boost

A NEW convenience store in Oxford has helped to create 19 new jobs while also give something back to the community.

To celebrate the launch of the new Midcounties Co-operative on Walton Street, 14 people from the store donned their gardening gloves to volunteer at Elder Stubbs allotments in Cowley.

They helped to spruce up the gardens and clear the site to help prepare for last month's Elder Stubbs Festival.

Challenge for knitters

KNITTERS in Oxford are being asked to get their needles ready and help knit 15,800 miniature hats for Age UK's Spread the Warmth campaign.

There are only four weeks remaining for Age UK Oxfordshire to reach the target while the charity hopes to have one million little woolly hats, which will adorn innocent smoothie bottles, knitted by October.

You can contact Age UK Oxfordshire to get a free hat pattern or you can download one from www.ageuk.org.uk/oxfordshire.

Research boffins zoom in on jet-lag problems

Taking to streets for return of St Giles fair

• Flashback. Revellers battle the elements at a previous St Giles festival

THOUSANDS of people are set to take to the streets of Oxford on Monday and Tuesday next week, as the annual, St Giles fair returns for another year.

The fair was originally a parish festival, celebrating the feast of St Giles, and is held on the first Monday and Tuesday after St Giles Day (September 1). However, as is the case this year, when September 1 falls on a Sunday, it is held on September 9 and 10.

It dates back to the 1620s, when it was a parish feast held in celebration of St Giles, and has since been a toy festival in the 18th century, and a children's fair.

Festival goers in 2013 will be able to revel in all the traditional fairground attractions, such as helter-skelter, coconut shy, dodgems and carousels.

And people seeking a bit more of a thrill will be able to experience a whole host of white-knuckle rides throughout both evenings of the fair.

RESEARCHERS at Oxford University may have taken a step closer to finding a cure for jet-lag.

New research in mice has revealed why the body is slow to recover from jet-lag and has identified a target for the development of drugs that could help people adjust better to changes in time zone.

Oxford University and F.Hoffmann La Roche scientists have identified a mechanism that limits the ability of the body clock to adjust to changes in patterns of light and dark.

The study showed that if the activity of this gene is blocked, mice will recover faster from disturbances in their daily light and dark cycle which is designed to simulate jet-leg.

When travelling to a different time zone, the body clock eventually adjusts to the local time but this can take up to one day for every hour the clock is shifted, resulting in several days of fatigue and discombobulation.

Dr Peirson, of Oxford's Nuffield Laboratory of Ophthalmology, said: "We've identified a system that actively prevents the body clock from re-adjusting.

"If you think about it, it makes sense to have a buffering mechanism in place to provide some stability to the clock.

"The clock needs to be sure that it is getting a reliable signal, and if the signal occurs at the same time over several days it probably has biological relevance.

"But it is this same buffering mechanism that slows down our ability to adjust to a new time zone and causes jet lag."

Professor Foster, director of the Oxford University Sleep and Circadian Neuroscience Institute added: "We're still several years away from a cure for jet-lag.

"But understanding the mechanisms that generate and regulate our circadian clock gives us targets to develop drugs to help bring our bodies in tune with the solar cycle."

Until now, little was known about how light affects activity in the area of the brain called the suprachiasmatic nuclei (SCN) which controls the body clock and why it takes so long to adjust when the light cycle changes.

The victim, 24, was sat on a wall in Hythe Bridge Street at 3am when the men approached him.

The man with him was also Asian and had short brown hair in a side parting, and large eyebrows.

Plans ready for any fire strike action - councillor

A SENIOR county councillor promises that plans are in place to cope with potential strike action from the fire service.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The Fire Brigades Union (FBU) is calling for a strike after national negotiations on pay and pension reform failed to reach an agreement.

As part of contingency planning, Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service had been trying to get an agreement locally, based on a national protocol signed by the Trades Union Congress (TUC) with the government in 1979.

It allows workers to carry on doing life and business-saving activities during strike action but, to date, the FBU has locally refused to sign up to such a protocol.

However, an agreement has been reached between Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service and the union to provide major incident cover for emergencies that require eight fire appliances or more and respond to any national emergencies during any potential strike action.

Cllr Rodney Rose, deputy leader of Oxfordshire County Council has reassured the public but has expressed frustration at the union's decision to ballot firefighters in support of a strike.

"I hope that this dispute can be resolved quickly and firefighters can get back to what they want and the public expects, which is to protect the community.

"At least here in Oxfordshire there has been strong forward planning to mitigate negative impacts of strike action."

The county's fire and rescue service has also arranged for emergency cover to be provided by Securitas, who have been specifically trained, while cover is already provided by the use of staff that are not engaged in industrial action.

Chief Fire Officer David Etheridge said: "Oxfordshire residents should be reassured that we have been planning for some time to develop strong resilience arrangements, which provides me with the confidence to give the assurance that while this will not be our usual response standards that levels of fire cover will be in place for those who have to dial 999 during any strike."

Thai food and culture festival is a success

OXFORD'S first Thai Food and Culture Festival proved to be a success, according to its organisers.

Thai based exhibitors, such as the Bangkok House on Hythe Bridge Street, the Chaba Thai restaurant and children from the Thai Temple on the Abingdon Road and the Muay Thai Boxing Academy on Templars Square, entertained the crowds throughout the day.

About 1,500 people flocked to Botley Park and Joe Moleekool, one of the organisers, said: "It went very well, better than we thought. A big crowd turned out considering that it was our first year.

"For a long time we have thought about doing something for communities because there are lots of Thai people in and around Oxford.

"We thought we should do something to get the communities together and show some Thai culture to the local community."

Mark Vongsakul of the Bangkok House, who also helped to organise the event, said they will be looking to expand the festival next year.

"For our first year, all our exhibitors were Thai-based," he said, "but obviously we will be looking to expand and we will welcome other exhibitors from in and around Oxford and the Oxfordshire area."

The festival raised money for Sobell House, the Thai Temple and an orphanage in Bangkok. The funds were still being counted as the Guardian went to print.

Police step up hunt after river attack

POLICE are still hunting three men who pushed another man into a river after hitting him with a plank of wood.

The 49-year-old victim was walking near Isis Lock on August 23 when he was approached by three men, who were of Indian sub-continental or Pakistani appearance.

They hit him on the head and pushed him into the river, leaving him requiring stitches.

A friend of the victim tried to intervene, but he was punched several times in the head by the three attackers.

All three were carrying luggage, believed to be large plastic woven raffia-style bags which were red, white and blue.

Investigating officer PC Charlie Pollard said: "This was a nasty and totally unprovoked attack.

"The luggage these men were carrying is very distinctive, so we are hopeful that someone will recognise this description."

All three men are described as being in their 30s. The main offender is six-foot tall, of strong build and had a thin moustache.

The other two offenders are both around 5ft 8ins.

Markets receive major council business boost

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

GLOUCESTER Green's markets are set for a major business boost after the city council entered into investment talks with two market organising firms.

The council has granted a five-year licence to Liverpool-based Geraud UK and LSD Promotions, based in the West Midlands, to raise the popularity and profitability of the markets in Gloucester Green.

As of October 1, the two companies will be responsible for the day-to-day running of the market, with the first market day taking place the following day.

Councillor Bob Price, leader of Oxford City Council, said: "We believe that markets are an essential part of Oxford's diverse retail offer.

"This new agreement is good news for traders and customers of Gloucester Green markets.

"The new operators will contribute significant new investment into the markets to refresh their appearance and attract more customers.

"Improved promotion will also mean increased profitability for market traders and the other traders in Gloucester Green.

"The new operators have extensive experience of managing successful markets and we look forward to working closely with them.

"This is also good news as the new partnership will result in a significant saving to the Council and contribute to the expenditure reduction target for 2013/14.

Tony Fraser, deputy chief executive of Geraud UK, said: "We see a huge opportunity to improve the market offer in Gloucester Green and we are looking forward to working with the Council to increase the popularity or the markets amongst customers and their profitability for stallholders and local businesses.

"Oxford has so much potential which we are determined to unlock. This is fantastic news for everyone involved."

Under the new terms, all the existing markets will continue, and it is hoped more stallholders will be added.

The council will still set the rents, while Geraud and LSD will oversee rent collection and debt management.

Child smoking figures rise as schools return

SHOCKING figures about the number of children who will start smoking in Oxford on a weekly basis have been released, coinciding with the beginning of the new school term.

A study by Cancer Research UK has revealed that ten children in the city will start to smoke each week with a county wide figure of 35.

The figures relate to children aged 11-15 years old and have been circulated as part of the charity's 'Setting the Standard' campaign to highlight the problem and underline the importance of action to discourage young people from smoking.

Helen Johnstone, Cancer Research UK spokesperson for Oxfordshire, said: "The excitement of starting a new term is in stark contrast to the reality of the number of children who will start smoking every day. In Oxfordshire alone this is 1,837 children every year."

The charity are also urging the Prime Minister David Cameron to commit to plain, standardised packaging of tobacco and Alison Cox, Cancer Research UK's Tobacco Control Lead, added: "The Government's delay to bring in standard cigarette packs will cost lives.

"Doing nothing is not an option when 567 children take up smoking every day in the UK. There is no doubt that urgent action is required to stop branded cigarette packaging and reduce the number of children who start to smoke.

"Replacing slick, brightly coloured packs that appeal to children with standard packs displaying prominent health warnings, is a vital part of our efforts to help protect the health of our youngsters.

"Reducing the appeal of cigarettes with plain, standardised packs will not stop everyone from smoking, but it will give millions of kids one less reason to start."

Big Feastival is huge success

Thousands celebrate at food and music festival

THOUSANDS gathered at Alex Jones' farm last weekend for a big celebration of food and music.

The Big Feastival, set at the Blur bassist's farm in Kingham, saw a star-studded cast of acts take to the stage over the two-day extravaganza.

Dance legends Basement Jaxx, hip-hop duo Rizzle Kicks and soul singer Lianne Le Havas were the big players on the Saturday.

Sunday saw a similarly stellar line-up, with indie-rock act the Feeling, Take That's Mark Owen, and singer-songwriter KT Tunstall wowing the crowds.

And it wasn't just music that attracted people to the West Oxfordshire site, with Jamie Oliver and a whole host of chefs serving up a treat.

Celebrity guests included Holly Willoughby, Peter and Abbey Crouch, and Dragons' Den star Peter Jones.

Jamie and Alex closed the festival, joining the Cuban Brothers for their set, with Alex donning his bass and Jamie playing the drums.

Miss Julie at your peril!

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

DIDCOT Cornerstone is host to the UK Touring Theatre later this month, as they bring their adaptation of August Strindberg's famous production Miss Julie to the stage.

Set in Sweden on Midsummer's Eve in 1888, the play follows the relationship between the aristocratic Miss Julie and Jean, her father's valet.

It starts off as a harmless flirtation, but soon turns into a ferocious power struggle and battle of the sexes, from which neither can escape.

Felicity Rhys is the producer of the show, and is also playing the lead role of Miss Julie during the show's run.

"It's so exciting doing both roles," she said. "I've been an actress for 12 years, and the theatre company is a new challenge, which is great.

"It means you have to plan ahead a lot, so by the time you get to rehearsals you can just focus on the acting. It's nice to have artistic control as well, a great provision over what you want to do, and it's definitely well worth it."

Felicity and members of the theatre company re-translated the original Swedish text of the story into English, to mark the centenary of Strindberg's death last year.

Director Denis Noonan said: "The process of re-translating the play from scratch took about eight months, but the result is a script that I think really reflects what Strindberg originally wanted to achieve with this play.

"Miss Julie is a very powerful piece, as well as being exciting and accessible to a modern audience."

The story of Miss Julie has been performed around the world, and is widely regarded as Strindberg's masterpiece as well as being frequently adapted and updated.

Felicity added: "There's a lot of tension in the show, tragedy of course and a bit of humour as well, alongside some crafty characters.

"Miss Julie is probably one of the best characters ever written for a woman. It's a real challenge for an actress to play, and it's a fantastic piece of drama."

Tickets cost £14.50 for a 7.30pm start on September 27. For more information and to book tickets, call 01235 515144 or visit www.cornerstone-arts.org.

Larry Dean "The final winner was Larry Dean, a skinny young Glaswegian gay man with not a camp bone in his body, whose hilarious accounts of his family life and the problems his sexuality caused there culminated in the undoubted top gag of the evening, which had the audience roaring for minutes. Obviously, you'll have to look him out yourself if you want to know what that gag was"– Venue Magazine – April 2013.

Headline Act

Jeff Innocent doesn't at first glance look like a man who makes his living making people laugh. He's rather tall, very bald and if you met him on a dark night in a secluded alley you might be a little bit frightened. Don't be fooled by appearances, behind his sharp-suited hard man exterior is a very very funny man who's observation-based act is one of the finest in the business.
"It should be made law that every British Citizen must go and see Jeff Innocent. He's that funny."– Evening Standard

INTERNATIONAL smash hit musical Blood Brothers is coming to the Oxford New Theatre on Monday for six days, as the show continues its tour across the UK.

It tells the captivating story of how twin boys were separated at birth, later to be reunited by a twist of fate and their mother's haunting secret.

Mrs Johnstone is a young mother who is deserted by her husband and left to raise seven children on her own, forcing her to take a job as a housekeeper to make ends meet.

But before long she discovers she is pregnant yet again, and this time she is expecting twins.

In a moment of desperation, she enters into a secret pact with her employer, which leads to the show's dramatic climax.

The production of Liverpool life has been performed in London's West End for 24 years, and touring the country since 1995.It features a memorable score that includes "A Bright New Day', 'Marilyn Monroe' and 'Tell Me It's Not True' among it's line-up of hit songs and music.

The score was written by Willy Russell, whose previous works have included Educating Rita and Shirley Valentine as part of his distinguished career.

Educating Rita was initially commissioned by the Royal Shakespeare Company, and enjoyed a two-year run in the West End before being made into a movie starring Michael Caine and Julie Walters.

Blood Brothers will be directed by Bob Tomson and Bill Kenwright, with Maureen Nolan playing the coveted lead role of Mrs Johnstone alongside narrator Warwick Evans. Shows start at 7.30pm from Monday, with an additional 2.30pm performance on September 14.

Visit www.newtheatreoxford.org.uk or call 0844 871 3020.

• Maureen Nolan and Warwick Evans star in Blood Brothers, at the New Theatre from Monday

WIN tickets to the Dubai Duty Free 'International Weekend'

MEMORIES of the mighty Mill Reef will be evoked at The Racecourse Newbury on Saturday, 21 September with the forty-second running of the Dubai Duty Free-sponsored event named in tribute to the 1971 Epsom Derby hero.

Widely regarded as one of the greatest horses of all time, Mill Reef went on to etch his name on the Eclipse Stakes, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes and the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, taking his place among racing's elite.

The highlight of an action-packed two-day fixture, which is targeted by leading owners and trainers, the Dubai Duty Free Mill Reef Stakes has a special place in Newbury's racing calendar as it often throws up horses with serious Classic race potential.

Sharing the billing is the Group 3 Dubai International Airport World Trophy, the Group 3 Dubai Duty Free Legacy Cup and the Dubai Duty Free Handicap with a purse of £75,000, a notoriously competitive handicap, whose roll of honour includes Her Majesty The Queen's Leading Star.

Closing date

Friday, September 13

It promises to be a really special day's racing and you, and a guest, could be there, soaking up the atmosphere and casting an eye over the runners and riders, as a winner of our simple and easy-to-enter competition.

Courtesy of the multi-award winning airport retailer, we've got ten pairs of tickets to Newbury's exclusive Premier Enclosure give away absolutely FREE. For your chance to win, simply tell us:

Q: IN WHICH YEAR WAS THE DUBAI DUTY FREE MILL REEF STAKES FIRST RUN. WAS IT? 1971, 1972 OR 1973?

Focus is on Ford EcoBoost

REVIEW: FORD FOCUS ECOBOOST

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

FORD has announced a new ultra-efficient version of the Focus 1.0-litre EcoBoost that will be the first petrol-powered family car in Europe to offer 99 g/km CO2 emissions.

The Ford Focus 1.0-litre EcoBoost ECOnetic has returned 67.5mpg in tests thanks to its specially calibrated 100PS version of the firm's high-tech small capacity engine. To help it achieve these class-leading efficiency levels, the new model also incorporates other eco-technology, including ultra-low rolling resistance tyres, different aerodynamics under the car and revised gearing.

"Just a couple of years ago few would have thought that a medium-sized petrol car could break the 100g/km CO2 barrier," said Barb Samardzich, European Product Development vice president. "Ford's 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine has a habit of taking expectations of what a petrol engine can deliver and turning them upside down."

The new model will extend the range of EcoBoost equipped Focus models to three; alongside the standard 100PS version, with 109g/km CO2 emissions, and the 125PS with 114g/km CO2.

Introduced to the Fiesta, B-MAX, C-MAX and seven-seat Grand C-MAX last year, the 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine will be extended to the EcoSport SUV, Transit Connect and Transit Courier commercial vehicles; Tourneo Connect people mover; and later the all-new Mondeo.

Ford's EcoBoost engines are able to deliver power, combined with efficiency, due to a low inertia turbocharger, split cooling system and direct fuel injection. ECOnetic variants also utilise other eco-technologies, including Auto-Start-Stop, Smart Regenerative Charging, Active Grille Shutter and Ford EcoMode to support a more economical and environmentally friendly driving style.

A zero emission Focus Electric will follow this autumn, along with the diesel Focus ECOnetic that promises emissions as low as 88g CO2.

"With the Focus 1.0-litre EcoBoost, Focus Electric and Focus ECOnetic, Ford offers customers an unrivalled power of choice of fuel-efficient family cars," said Sherif Marakby, medium car vehicle line director, Ford of Europe.

United boss Wilder can't hide his disappointment

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

CHRIS Wilder says he is "disappointed" with the early second-half goal his side conceded on Saturday in their 1-1 draw at home to Rochdale.

United had gone into the second half with a 1-0 lead after impressively outplaying the visitors in the opening period.

But Matthew Lund's back post header cancelled out James Constable's opener for Oxford.

"I'm a touch disappointed," said the U's boss "Especially [to concede] just after half-time, because I thought the first half was a decent performance from us.

"They were good opposition, but I still felt in the first half we created more chances than them.

"We gave away the ball cheaply just after half-time and invited the pressure on. If we'd have been better in that period, we'd have hopefully gone on to add to our score.

"But we didn't, and they came back into it through good play, and a bit of carelessness in possession from our point of view."

Saturday's result saw Dave Kitson play for an hour, despite suffering from sickness.

And leading scorer Deane Smalley missed out altogether, with the U's medical staff deeming he did not recover from a hamstring injury in time for kick-off. Despite this, Wilder felt his side had the chances to win the game.

"We've still had good chances," he said. "There were a couple of things that have gone against us, Deane not making it, which we were really disappointed with – we thought he would have done. And Dave Kitson was up all night – fair play to him for being available.

"But we still had two or three good chances, but we gave the ball away in bad areas, and then we came out fighting again."

Striker Constable is now just four short of 100 goals for the U's – the talismanic frontman fired home after Danny Rose's effort was brilliantly kept out by Josh Lillis. And it was a special moment for Constable, with his family, including newborn baby daughter Amelia, watching from the stands.

"It was nice to get the goal, with the family here today," he said. "And I thought at that point we could have gone on and won the game quite comfortably.

"We're disappointed we didn't manage to do that.

"Everybody is asking why [we didn't go on to win] – it's something we need to put right."

Winning ways continue for City Nomads

OXFORD City Nomads continued their impressive start to the new Hellenic Premier season with an 8-0 demolition of Abingdon Town.

Nomads have won four out of the last five games, lie second in the league and are the division's top scorers.

They faced Flackwell Heath last night as the Guardian went to press, looking to make it three wins on the spin.

Town remain second from bottom after Saturday's drubbing, with only neighbours Abingdon United lying below them.

The Abbots will host Ascot as they look for their first win of the season on Saturday.

Meanwhile, Wantage Town lost local bragging rights to Southern League One South and West side Didcot in Friday's FA Cup preliminary qualifying round clash.

The Alfredians were edged out 3-2 by the Railwaymen in an entertaining affair.

However, they are third in the league and still had a 100 per cent record in the division as the Guardian went to press, having faced Wootton Bassett Town last night.

No regrets for Smith at home Grand Prix

BRADLEY Smith was content with his ninth place finish at the British Grand Prix last weekend.

The 22-year-old Tech 3 rider secured his eighth top ten finish of the year despite revealing that with a softer rear tyre his race was a little more difficult than he would have liked.

"I was very pleased with my start and we decided to race with the softer rear tyre option, as we were lacking a bit of grip during the whole weekend," he said.

"I wanted the sun to come out but unfortunately the temperatures remained cold and after just three laps we already knew that the race would be a difficult one.

"Probably the hard tyre would have been the right choice but we did not have enough time to evaluate it.

"We did what we could and even if I didn't want to finish behind Nicky (Hayden), I decided it was safer to finish the race after Andrea (Dovizioso) crashed out just in front of me.

"All in all it was a tough weekend but riding in front of nearly 75,000 British fans was an incredible feeling."

Sport Bites

Long way back

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell finished tied for 68th in the ISPS Handa Wales Open at Celtic Manor last weekend.

The 22-year-old carded a final round of 79 to finish on 12-over-par for the tournament, taking home €3,990 in prize money.

Frenchman Gregory Bourdy won the tournament, carding eight-under-par over four rounds.

Goals galore

NORTH Leigh's players filled their boots as they hit Guildford City for eight at Eynsham Park on Tuesday night.

Conor McDonaugh and Stuart Hole both scored twice and Elliott-Osborne-Ricketts added another as the Millers went into half-time 5-0 up.

And they inflicted more pain on their Surrey rivals by adding three more in the second period, courtesy of Morgan Williams, Jon Else and Ryan Bernard own goal.

Chinnor ready

CHINNOR RFC kick-off their new National League Two South season against Exmoor on Saturday.

Chinnor were dealt a harsh lesson by London Welsh last month, after being on the end of a 107-5 drubbing. But they bounced back well, and secured a convincing 43-17 win over Oxford Harlequins in their final warm-up game.

We're conceding too many late goals, admits Ford

OXFORD City manager Mike Ford says he is concerned with the amount of late goals his side are conceding after a 3-3 draw at Bradford Park Avenue last weekend.

Richard Marshall headed home in the 90th minute for Bradford, completing a second half comeback, after City had gone into the break 3-0 up thanks to goals from Mike Symons, Tom Winters and Jamie Cook.

City are currently 20th in the Skrill Conference North and Ford said: "What does concern me is the amount of late goals that we are letting in at the moment.

"We've conceded four goals late in games which has really hurt us so that is something that we need to address."

Despite letting a three-goal lead slip against Bradford, Ford admitted that he would have taken a point before the game.

"I think when you are getting on a coach at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, going up to Bradford, you probably would take a draw. But I want us to be in charge of games and for 45 minutes we were. You don't go away from home at any level and be 3-0 up without actually playing very well."

City face Colwyn Bay at Court Place Farm this Saturday.

ROWERS ARE ON TOP OF WORLD

Quartet create rowing history as they win medals at world championships

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD-BASED Andrew Triggs Hodge and Henley's Will Satch, Daniel Ritchie and Peter Lambert all created a piece of rowing history at the weekend when they won medals at the World Rowing Championships in Korea.

Satch stroked the GB eight, featuring double Olympic men's four champion Hodge, that won Britain's first ever gold in this event.

Lambert created another "first" in the quadruple scull which won the nation's first medal in this event at a World Championships.

The men's eight led the race for all bar the first 250m, beating the reigning World and Olympic Champions Germany into silver in a time of 5:30.35.

The eight also included Richie, George Nash, Mohamed Sbihi, Pete Reed, Alex Gregory and Tom Ransley.

"I am very proud of our rowers", said GB Rowing Team Performance Director, Sir David Tanner. "The men's eight gold was the perfect conclusion to the first Championships of the Rio Olympiad.

"The men's eight has been an exciting project, with its challenges for our top guns, and this came together in the last six weeks under Jurgen Grobler's excellent coaching".

Lambert stroked the men's quadruple scull which included Charles Cousins, Sam Townsend and Graeme Thomas, who came from the pack to take bronze behind Croatia and Germany in gold and silver respectively - a reversal of the top two positions at the Olympics last year.

Lambert said: "I am pretty happy. I am happy with the way the race went and with the whole week. We just kept calm even though there was a bit of pressure on us. Everyone just knew what we had to do and as a new crew it's a first medal for a British quad."

Wallingford's Kathryn Twyman and Imogen Walsh were fourth in the lightweight women's double scull – the event won by Kat Copeland and Sophie Hosking at last year's Olympics.

"I think we have come a long way this season and even since the last world cup in Lucerne. We are two seconds faster than we were there", said Twyman.

Another fourth place was recorded by Oxford's twice Olympic silver medallist Frances Houghton in the women's double scull with Vicky Meyer-Laker.

Houghton said: "We ran out of steam. We really put ourselves out there and we just didn't have that for the whole of the 2k."

Oxford's Olivia Carnegie-Brown stroked the women's eight, who finished fifth in Sunday's final, after fading following a promising start.

United remain unbeaten

OXFORD United remain unbeaten after the spoils were shared against Rochdale on Saturday.

James Constable fired the U's in front mid-way through the first half, but Dale's Matthew Lund powered in a back-post header at the start of the second half, and the game finished 1-1. See inside sport for full match reaction.
